Let Sky Blue essence and its Surrender be your Home

Energies of Liberation: Sky Blue

Imagine being in an aeroplane. Far below, rolling white clouds reach to the horizon. Above, endless Sky Blue! You are moving across the inner sky whenever you tune into Sky Blue. The fathomless blue far above the puffy white clouds dissolves into the vast expansiveness of Existence – into unseen stars, universes, other unknown dimensions.

The clouds below you always will be there. But you are high above the clouds gathered across the lower horizon. The upper horizon is full of dazzling Light. The sky is so bewilderingly vast, an overwhelming impulse may arise from deep within:

*“Feeling the soft gentle inner stream
Within yourself
And following it –
Surrendering to the greater love”*

You have a sense of the miraculous, the immense emptiness; you mingle with a tangible energy of Surrender – “Surrendering to the greater Love” – surrendering to the vastness.

If you can carry this sense of Sky Blue Surrender through your earthly life, you are truly blessed and graced. Then life falls into a subtle, ongoing harmony – without mind, without the white and grey clouds intervening.

Sky Blue is an ocean-sky of Surrender to a vastness which lies far beyond you – but which is accessible to you now!!! In Sky Blue Surrender, you easily fall into a “recognition of the synchronicity and harmony of all that exists.” It is both a rising-high and a ‘falling’ because you are falling through all your layers, deep within: a profound let-go into the oceanic trust of the vastness.

You cannot “do” Surrender; the Surrender happens through you from the vastness. From nowhere the Surrender comes. It comes from beyond the mind.

This is the conundrum, the irony: mind still works efficiently, sharper than ever. But when the Sky Blue is with you, you are more open to ‘blue sky thinking’ or ‘thinking outside the box.’ Ideas and whisperings come in from the perennial vastness – that is the blessing, the grace.

*“Feeling the soft gentle inner stream
Within yourself
And following it –”*

You need to be subtle, soft and sensitive to feel and follow the gentle inner stream. Surrender is not a submission to some outside authority; it is a Surrender to the Sky Blue cosmic vastness within – the empty sky. It is a Surrender to whatever presents itself in your life, to whatever has emerged from the formless today!

Normal mind can deal with clunky earthly affairs while your being remains with the open sky. Sky Blue permeates your earthly mind that deals with your affairs. It illuminates them. No-mind is present! It is laughing. It has the radiance of soaring beyond the clouds of mind.

You need mind. But you need no-mind too, more than ever now. Sky Blue is never far from you. It is shimmering with an otherworldly Light when you see it beyond the clouds.

When you are in touch with no-mind vastness – even if you have experienced just a sliver of it – it illuminates everything you do.

Everything you do is irradiated by the hidden harmony; you have an intuitive, trusting sense of that “Recognition of the synchronicity and harmony of all that exists.” You cannot escape from that harmony with Sky Blue no-mind.

The Sky Blue gives you peace and not only a sense of Surrender, but also a sense of grace. You are not against life; you are with it.

So much time in earthly lives is spent fighting against what is – fighting against the conditions which exist in your lives. If you feel deep loneliness because of some internal wound, let the Sky Blue fill that hole – fill it with the Sky Blue texture of being close to the divine. That wound can be filled with Sky Blue and become eternal Light.

Overthinking things, our thoughts in a tangle, we can easily lose the harmony. When the mind is debating continually against itself, a solution is to go into the Sky Blue serene hum of spaciousness. It is not easy – and the mind will fight you. But for a while brush the issues aside and float out into Sky Blue. Imagine you are on that plane above the rolling white clouds. Drink in Sky Blue, the essence and the peace of it. Enjoy its pristine magnificence. Let it become part of the cells of your body – let Sky Blue infiltrate every cell. Let Sky Blue essence and that sense of Surrender be your home.

Beloved ones, the waves.
